WORSHIP MATTERS – SUNDAY SERVICES 10:30AM

February 1, 2026

"Hope, Fear and Cracking the Pillars of an Authoritarian Regime"- Jim Highland

This service will focus on some Tibetan Buddhist teachings as well as the work PIIN and our parent network, the Gamaliel Network, are gearing up for in 2026 and beyond.

Jim Highland is an Organizer for Pennsylvania Interfaith Impact Network, PIIN, (www.piinpa.org), a coalition of progressive, interfaith congregations and organizations mostly in Allegheny County but looking for more partners in Western PA. He works with PIIN's Environmental Justice Task Force, Immigration Task Force and Integrated Voter Engagement Program, and generally helps with whatever else needs done when necessary. He is a father of four who has worn many hats thus far in his life. He has worked as a painter, a digital printer, a deli clerk, a newspaper delivery boy, a relief cottage-parent for troubled young men, a recreation supervisor, a pizza deliveryman, a real estate agent, a cross country coach, a violin teacher, and a university philosophy professor. He still thinks of himself as a cross country runner, though there are several schools of thought regarding that claim.

"Being Kind"- Rev. Jane Ellen Nickell

In these overwhelming times, many people wonder what they can do that will make a difference. While few of us are in positions to make systemic changes, we can all show each other kindness, an under-rated practice that can brighten someone else's day in these stressful times. We'll look at teachings about kindness from various religions and from the novelist George Saunders, to see how we can foster that practice in our own lives.

February 15, 2026

"Celebration"- Josh Searle-White

In honor of the traditional Mardi Gras observance, let's explore how much we can find to celebrate, even in times of challenge. We'll have special music to expand our mood, and Mardi Gras activities will follow the service.

"Music, Together"- Aimee Reash and Sany Ball

Making music in groups enables us to feel safer, happier, more content, and gives us a sense of belonging. Engaging in music-making with others encourages us to work together, feel bonded to each other, and feel more secure in ourselves as individuals. Boost your physical and emotional health as we experience an hour of joy, music, and togetherness!
